

Dr. Howard Shaffer is the Morris E. Chafetz Associate Professor of Psychiatry in the Field of Behavioral Sciences at Harvard Medical School; in addition, he is the Director of the Division on Addiction at Harvard affiliated Cambridge Health Alliance. Dr. Shaffer is a Fellow of the American Psychological Association and has served on the National Academy of Sciences, National Research Council, Committee on the Social and Economic Impacts of Pathological Gambling. Dr. Shaffer is the author/editor of hundreds of journal articles, books or monographs, and he serves as a member of many editorial boards and is an ad hoc reviewer for many journals including the New England Journal of Medicine and the Archives of General Psychiatry. He has received many awards, including the 2010 American Psychological Association, Division 50, award for “Outstanding Contributions to Advancing the Understanding of Addictions.” During 2015, he received the Lifetime Research Award from the National Council on Problem Gambling.

Dr. Sarah Nelson is the Associate Director of Research at the Division on Addiction at the Cambridge Health Alliance, and an Assistant Professor in Psychiatry at Harvard Medical School. Dr. Nelson has been involved in the study of DUI behavior for 12 years. As part of the team of researchers at the Division on Addiction, she has collaborated on a longitudinal study of substance abuse and mental health in repeat DUI offenders. These studies have provided the foundation for developing a mental health assessment and referral system that can be used by a variety of DUI programs.

Nathan Lowe is a Research Associate with the American Probation and Parole Association (APPA) where he works on grant-funded projects to conduct research/evaluation and provide training/technical assistance to the community corrections field. Given his background as a former practitioner, his current research primarily concentrates on efforts to improve supervision practices in community corrections, including risk assessment for impaired drivers and the quality of interactions between officers and supervisees. He is a Ph.D. candidate in sociology at the University of Kentucky.

Phyllis McMillen was appointed Judge of the State of Michigan Sixth Circuit Court in August of 2010 and elected to the position in 2012. Prior to serving on the Circuit Court, she was a Judge of the 51st District Court in Waterford, Michigan, for over 15 years. She is the past President of the Michigan District Judges Association and the Oakland County District Judges Association. In 2005, Judge McMillan received a Special Recognition Award from the Executive Office of the President, Office of National Drug Control Policy for her pioneering work in the creation of Sobriety Court as an alternative for handling drug and alcohol-related offenses.